

Abstract

The invention concerns a micronized pharmaceutical or nutraceutical powder with immediate release having a grain size distribution of not more than 100 μm , and comprising the combination of at least an active substance, at least a wetting agent and at least a diluent.